SECOND SUNDAY OF LENT

Catholics worldwide are used to seeing the Latin cross inside and atop our churches. It is one of the most recognizable and best known symbols of Christianity. But did you know that there are other “crosses” that have long provenance in Christianity? In addition to our familiar symbol, there are also the Greek, Maltese, Papal, Patriarchal, and St. Andrews crosses.

Perhaps the oldest pattern of the cross is called the “tau” cross – the cross that is associated with the Franciscan order. But did you know that it is most likely that the “tau” was the standard form of Roman crucifixion? The vertical member was already mounted at the place of execution. The horizontal member was carried by the victim from the place of judgment to that of their execution.

The name “tau” was associated with the cross because of its shape and because “tau” is the last letter of the Hebrew alphabet already in use symbolically in the Old Testament. It was already spoken of in the Book of Ezekiel: “The Lord said to him, ‘Go through the city, through Jerusalem, and put a mark upon the foreheads of the men who sigh and groan over the abominations... (Ez. 9:4). The Tau was the sign placed upon the foreheads of the poor of Israel, as a sign they were to be saved.

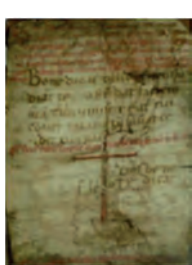

This was adopted early on by the first generations of Christians who were Jewish. It was a two-fold reason:

- The Christians adopted the Tau, because its form reminded them of the Cross on which Christ was sacrificed for the salvation of the world.
- As the last letter of the Hebrew alphabet, it prophesied the Last Day and had the same function as the Greek letter Omega as it appears in the Book of Revelation: “I am the Alpha and the Omega, the beginning and the end. To the thirsty I will give water without price from the fountain of the water of life ... I am the Alpha and the Omega, the first and the last, the beginning and the end” (Rev. 21:6; 22:13).

The Tau occupied an important place in the thoughts and life of St. Francis of Assisi, so much so that it occupied an important place in his thought. For Francis the ancient prophetic sign was actualized, regained its saving power and expressed the beatitude of poverty, which is an essential element of the Franciscan way of life.

“Whenever necessity or charity required, St. Francis marked with this seal the letters he sent” (FF 980); “He began all of his actions with it” (FF 1347). The Tau was therefore the sign dearest to Francis, his seal, the telltale sign of a deep spiritual conviction that the salvation of every man is only in the Cross of Christ.

Thus the Tau, which is backed by a solid biblical and Christian tradition, was received by St. Francis for its spiritual value. The Saint of Assisi took hold of this sign in a manner so complete and intense that, at the end of his life and through the stigmata impressed in his flesh he became the living image of the Tau that he had so often contemplated, drawn, and especially loved.

Sincerely in Christ,

Fr. John O'Connor, O.F.M.

A fresh perspective on the Sunday Readings

HIS WORD TODAY

By Rev. William J. Reilly

“If God is for us, who can be against us? He who did not spare his own Son, but handed him over for us all, how will he not also give us everything else along with him... Christ Jesus it is who died, or rather was raised, who also is at the right hand of God who indeed intercedes for us.”

A persistent danger for us during our Lenten observance and practices is to focus on the events of Calvary and the paschal mystery which occurred. We may know details of the passion, death and resurrection, and recall and remember. Something else ought to happen.

The passion of Jesus continues today in the suffering of disciples throughout the world. Religious persecution continues, and because it occurs in distant places in the world it is real and affects the entire church, the entire body of Christ.

Thus Paul reminds us that it is the Risen Christ interceding for all of us today. May we join Peter, James and John with Christ on the mountain and hear echo, ‘Thus is my beloved Son. Listen to Him.’ May we pray to and for the suffering Christ today.

The Commonwealth of Virginia and the Death Penalty

As you are probably aware, the General Assembly of the State of Virginia recently passed legislation abolishing the Death Penalty in the Commonwealth. In light of this new legislation some have asked me “What is the Church’s teaching on the Death Penalty?”

On August 2, 2018, the Vatican announced that it had formally changed the official Catechism of the Catholic Church on the death penalty calling capital punishment “an attack on the inviolability and dignity of the person “ and deeming it inadmissible in all cases. The Pope, through the office of the Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith, approved the new teaching and the wording of the paragraph 2267 of the Catechism:

Today, however, there is an increasing awareness that the dignity of the person is not lost even after the commission of very serious crimes. In addition, a new understanding has emerged of the significance of penal sanctions imposed by the state. Lastly, more effective systems of detention have been developed, which ensure the due protection of citizens but, at the same time, do not definitively deprive the guilty of the possibility of redemption.

Consequently, the Church teaches, in the light of the Gospel, that “the death penalty is inadmissible because it is an attack on the inviolability and dignity of the person”,<sup>[1]</sup> and She works with determination for its abolition worldwide.

Our parish was one of the first Churches in the State of Virginia to advocate against the death penalty some 20 years ago. We conducted a petition signing, and a mail campaign asking the General Assembly to reconsider Capital Punishment. We received a number of compliments for our advocacy including a major editorial in the Potomac News complimenting and supporting our efforts.

It is good to see that our efforts bore fruition even if it took some 20 years. It is a tribute to the work of our parishioners and our parish pro-life committee in their efforts to protect life from the womb to natural death, and at all stages in between.

Hopefully the day will come when we and fellow Christians can change legislature’s minds when it comes to other very important Pro-Life issues such as Abortion and Euthanasia.
